

rolling out your treasury management system:

Getting Support Throughout the Process Ensures Success

A treasury management system can significantly enhance your bank's ability to manage liquidity, improve operational efficiency, and meet the needs of diverse business clients. But rolling out a new system isn't the end of your journey.

Your treasury management solution should offer support beyond implementation.

count on support throughout the treasury management journey

JHA Treasury Management™ from Jack Henry™ offers advanced tools for cash flow, liquidity, and risk management for large commercial accountholders with complex financial needs – and provides support in three areas critical to treasury management adoption.

- ✓ Integration: A treasury management system should seamlessly integrate with existing financial platforms and other data sources. JHA Treasury Management is built for SilverLake System®, so integration issues are minimized.
- ✓ Conversion: Jack Henry works with you to create a needs assessment, design an engagement model, set up a training plan, create a testing plan, and ensure you're ready to launch, support, and sell JHA Treasury Management.
- ✓ Training: JHA Treasury Management is an intuitive solution that's easy for your team to learn – and train your customers.

ensure a successful rollout

There are two ways Jack Henry facilitates adoption and implementation for employees and consumers:

1. Jack Henry Marketing Center
